Dear reader,

Campaigning for Malaria: Why?

Malaria continues to be a major threat to public health and development in malaria-endemic countries. The disease kills up to 3 million people a year, 90% of them in Sub-Saharan Africa. That is a minimum of seven jumbo jets filled with mostly women and children a day. Due to improved malaria control measures as well as increased knowledge during the past years effective malaria control is possible. What we need is strong political commitment and action, as well as financial resources to increase the number and coverage of malaria control programs and support new initiatives. More >>

SHOW YOUR FACE AGAINST MALARIA

In order to increase political commitment and action of European governments in the fight against malaria, STOP MALARIA NOW! calls for your support. Take a photo of yourself, upload it on our website and remind European governments to show more engagement in controlling malaria.

Join with campaigners across the globe and show your face against malaria to the EU-Governments. More >>

Documentation of the International Malaria Conference

The documentation of the Conference "Joining Forces, Synergising Action - Sustainable and Innovative Ways of Ensuring Long-Term Availability of Malaria Prevention and Treatment Measures by 2015", which took place from April 21st - 22nd 2008 in Bonn, Germany, is now available. More >>
